Conducting and Writing a Literature Review: An Interactive Presentation

By Dr. Sabrina Sembiante, Ph.D.

Wednesday, September 20, 2017

10:00 AM to 12:00 PM

ED 411: 4th floor, Dept of Exceptional Student Education

Conference Call: (712) 770-5215 Access Code: 784885#

A literature review encompasses a synthesis of in-depth information on a particular subject or topic of interest. Writing an effective literature review is essential when producing scholarly manuscripts and writing Chapter 2 of a dissertation. This presentation will feature Dr. Sabrina Sembiante, assistant professor in the Department of Curriculum, Culture, and Educational Inquiry, and professor of the literature review course. She will provide insight on researching, writing, and publishing an effective literature review.

Registration is free and open to all doctoral students and faculty in the College of Education. RSVP by Monday, September 11th to Brianna Joseph (bjosep28@fau.edu). Refreshments will be provided.

If you need additional information or a reasonable accommodation, please contact Dr. Rangasamy Ramasamy at rmasam@fau.edu. Please reach out as soon as possible, preferably at least 5 business days prior to the event.
