Program Name Master's Degree (M.Ed.) in Educational Psychology	<input type="checkbox"/> New Program <input checked="" type="checkbox"/> Change Program	Effective Date (TERM & YEAR) Spring 2019
Please explain the requested change(s) and offer rationale below or on an attachment We would like to replace the core course, EDG 6345 (Instructional Strategies and Assessment Practices). In its place we would like to make both EDF 6126 (Child Development in Educational Psychology) and EDF 6138 (Adolescence and Young Adulthood in Educational Psychology) as required core courses; currently the student has the option of taking one or the other. Rationale for this change is that students in the Educational Psychology program are not able to enroll in EDG 6345 as the course is a professional initial certification course and requires a field placement.

I've reviewed your plan for the program change. None of the changes affect the curriculum or courses for the ESE Department. Actually the changes appear to open up some options for our graduate students. I hope this strengthens the Ed Psych program!! Good luck. We fully support your effort!

Subject: FW: Chairs Request for Program Change

Dear Departmental Chairs,

Faculty in educational psychology would like to request a course change in the program requirements for the Master's in Educational Psychology. This change pertains to omitting one course in the Department of Teaching and Learning and replacing it with another course in the Department of Teaching and Learning. The course we want to be the required course in the degree is currently part of the degree but is offered to students as a choice between two Teaching and Learning courses. No courses currently required on this degree that are outside the department are affected. The reasoning comes from the fact that the nature of the course is no longer appropriate for those in the program. Therefore advisors are consistently having to replace the course with other available courses, giving students an additional elective course rather than a content-related course (like the one we are asking to replace it with).

Please reply back indicating if there is, or there is not, a conflict by Wednesday, January 30, 2019.

Thank you!
